Introduction

1. The United States supplied the UNCTAD Secretariat with detailed information on its imports from beneficiaries of its scheme of generalized preferences in 1989. 1/ A summary of the information contained in this reply is given below and the detailed data on imports from beneficiaries are presented in tables 1, 2 and 3 of the annex to this note. 2/

2. Since the United States put into application the Harmonized Commodity Description and Coding System (H.S) from 1 January 1988, the statistical information contained in this document is given according to this latter classification.

3. Republic of Korea, Hong Kong, Singapore and Taiwan (Province of China) had been graduated from the United States scheme with effect from 1 January 1989 and consequently do not appear within this information. Therefore, value given at the level of aggregation in table 1A could not be compared with those given for previous years as they appear in previous documents. 3/

United States imports from beneficiaries in 1989

4. Table 1, part A shows the value of total, dutiable covered and preferential imports from all beneficiaries and various groups of beneficiaries of the United States scheme in 1989, as well as the value of imports of products which did not receive preferential treatment either because of the competitive need criteria or for other reasons. Part B of the table shows the same information for individual beneficiary suppliers. In both cases imports are subdivided into agricultural and industrial products.

5. As shown in table 1, the United States recorded imports from 127 beneficiaries in 1989. 4/ One of these beneficiary suppliers did not export any dutiable products. 5/ Seven others had MFN dutiable trade but not covered by the scheme. 6/ Furthermore, fifteen other beneficiary suppliers did not receive preferential treatment in 1989, either because they did not meet the origin requirements or for other reasons. 7/ However, among these last beneficiary countries, it is obvious that Poland did not receive preferences because it became effective beneficiary under the United States scheme only from 1 January 1990. Among all these beneficiary suppliers, nine countries were least developed countries. Thus remained 104 beneficiaries which supplied goods covered by the scheme contractually which received preferential treatment.

6. Total United States imports from all beneficiaries amounted to $87.1 billion in 1989. Of these some $65.7 billion or 75.4 per cent were MFN dutiable, of which $22.3 billion or 34 per cent, were covered by the scheme. However, $8.6 billion of these covered imports were excluded from preferential treatment by the competitive need criteria. Thus the "effective" coverage of the scheme amounted to $13.8 billion or 21 per cent of MFN dutiable imports from beneficieries. Of this amount, nearly 73 per cent ($10 billion) actually received preferential treatment, while the remainder ($3.8 billion) failed to qualify for other reasons, such as failure to claim preferential treatment or to comply with the rules of origin. Finally, those imports which actually received preferential treatment ($10 billion) represented 44.8 per cent of all covered imported products ($22.3 billion). The bulk of these preferential imports consisted of industrial products ($8.8 billion) or 88.3 per cent and the remining ($1.2 billion) or 11.7 per cent of agricultural products.

7. Six major supplying beneficiaries 8/ accounted in 1989 for 81.4 per cent ($18.2 billion) of United States imports of covered products from all beneficiaries. Mainly as a result of competitive need exclusions, the percentage share of these major suppliers in total Unites States preferential imports was smaller, ($6.9 billion) or 69.1 per cent.

8. The United States recorded imports from 34 least developed countries (LDCs) in 1989. 9/ Of the total imports from these countries of $1,421.3 million, 60.2 per cent ($855.5 million) were MFN dutiable of which $120.2 million were covered by the scheme. However, $62.1 million or 51.7 per cent of these covered imports were denied preferential treatment on account of failure to meet the origin requirements or other reasons. Thus $58.1 million or 48.4 per cent, actually received preferential treatment.

9. Six of the LDCs suppliers (Haiti, Bangladesh, Mozambique, Mali, Malawi and United Republic of Tanzania) supplied 91 per cent of effectively covered and more than 95 per cent of preferential imports into the United States from this group of countries in 1989.

10. Haiti alone accounted for 51 per cent of preferential imports from LDCs in 1989. Moreover, the utilization rate (i.e. ratio of preferential to effectively covered imports) of the United States scheme by LDCs was significant, being 48.4 per cent compared with 20.7 per cent in 1987, regarding preferential imports from the LDCs 10/ and 44.8 per cent in 1989 for all beneficiary suppliers.

11. United States imports of products covered by their scheme from Mediterranean (MED) and ACP countries, which enjoy special tariff preferences in the EEC market, amounted to $766.3 million and $312.3 million in 1989. However, after exclusion of products excluded by competitive need criteria or those denied preferences for other reasons, preferential imports from Mediterranean countries and ACP countries amounted to $737.9 million and $234.3 million respectively. The rate of utilization is largely over the average for all beneficiary suppliers in both cases. It was in 1989 for Mediterranean countries and ACP countries 96.3 per cent and 75 per cent respectively.

12. Table 2 of the annex shows United States imports in 1989 of major products covered by the scheme and their major suppliers. Some 349 products in 1989 accounted for 80 per cent of United States imports of all covered products from all beneficiaries. They comprised mostly industrial products (308) accounting for 90.9 per cent ($16,246 million) of the total value of United States imports of all major covered products from beneficiaries.

13. Preferential imports of major products amounted to $6,977 million in 1989 or 69.7 per cent, of the total United States preferential imports. While the number of beneficiary suppliers varied widely as between individual major products, generally two to five major supplying beneficiaries accounted for the bulk of United States preferential imports of these products. It should be noted, however, that many of these major suppliers were excluded from preferential treatment with respect to individual products by the competitive need criteria or other reasons.

14. In value terms the most important major covered agricultural products imported from beneficiaries were (figures in brackets represent the value of imports in millions of dollars in 1989): HS item 17011100 cane sugar ($422); HS item 22030000 Beer made from malt ($154); HS item 06031070 Chrysanthemums ($103.5); HS item 07020060 Tomatoes ... ($100.6); HS item 07096000 Fruits of the genus capsicum ... ($87.4); HS item 16025010 corned beef ($67.9); HS item 07070020 Cucumbers ... ($56.8). During the same period the most important industrial products were: HS item 85443000 insulated ignition wiring sets ... ($1,221.9); HS item 85272110 Radio-tape player ... ($422.5); HS item 87089950 Accessories of motor vehicles ... ($377.2); HS item 87082100 Safety seat belts ... ($363.8); HS item 71131950 Articles of jewellery ... ($202.8); HS item 84719100 Digital processing units ... ($196.8); HS item 85365000 Switches NESI ... ($192.6); HS item 94012000 Seats ... ($181.7); HS item 84719930 Power supplies for automatic data processing ... ($180.1); HS item 85044000 Static convertors ($164.1); HS item 94036080 Wooden furnitures ... ($161.9); HS item 84082020 Compression-ignition internal combustion ... ($161.5); HS item 48185000 Articles of apparel and clothing accessories of paper pulp ($157); HS item 95039060 Toys NESI ($150.9); HS item 85014040 AC motors NESI ($142.8); HS item 64061065 Footwear uppers of leather ($137.9); HS item 85211000 Magnetic tape-type video ... ($130.4); HS item 85271111 Radio-tape player combinations ... ($123.2); HS item 87083950 Brakes and servo-brakes ... ($121.8); HS item 90189080 Instruments ... used in medical ... ($120.8); HS item 84151000 Window ... Air conditioning machines ($119.3); HS item 84099191 Parts ... used with spark-ignition ... ($117.6); HS item 94053000 Lighting sets ... ($115.2); HS item 85366900 Electrical apparatus NESI ... ($114.8); HS item 94016960 Chairs with wooden frames ... ($110.6); HS item 94019010 Parts of seats ... ($109.3); HS item 67029040 Artificial flowers ($109.2); HS item 71131929 Necklaces ... of gold ($108.6); HS item 40112000 New pneumatic tyres ... ($108.4); HS item 85252030 Transceivers NESI ... ($105.7); HS item 40111000 New pneumatic tyres ... ($103.7).

Competitive need exclusions

15. As may be noted from table 1A products covered by the United States scheme, but excluded from preferential treatment by competitive need criteria with respect to individual beneficiaries, represented 38.3 per cent in 1989 ($8.6 billion) of total United States imports from beneficiaries of products covered by the scheme. Thus, these competitive need exclusions reduced significantly the effective trade coverage of the scheme.

16. Table 3 of the annex shows the excluded products and the value of their imports from individual beneficiaries affected by competitive need criteria. In 1989 some 14 beneficiaries were affected by competitive need criteria with regard to 367 products of which 325 were industrial products and 42 agricultural products. The number of products excluded ranged from one or a few in the case of most beneficiaries affected to as many as 238 for Mexico, 100 for Brazil, 17 for Argentina and Thailand respectively and 10 for India. Although most of the products (38 agricultural products and 302 industrial products) were excluded by the percentage criterion (50 per cent as a general rule or 25 per cent in the case of countries which became "sufficiently competitive" in trade in the items), the remaining number of products (4 agricultural and 23 industrial) excluded by the criterion of absolute value ($76.2 million) 11/ accounted for ($5.2 billion) or 60.4 per cent of imports from beneficiaries of all products by such competitive need criteria in 1989.

17. In terms of the percentage shares of their covered exports excluded from preferential treatment by the competitive need criteria (table 1 column 11) the beneficiaries affected by an amount greater than 40 per cent (in order of importance) are the following: Mexico (59.4 per cent): Bahamas (48.9 per cent) and Brazil (44.8 per cent). However, in terms of the absolute value of covered products excluded from preferential treatment by the competitive need criteria, the most effected beneficiaries were: Mexico ($6,797.6 million); Brazil ($1,070.6 million); Thailand ($267.5 million), Argentina ($151.4 million); Colombia ($97.5 million) and Yugoslavia ($79.5 million). These six beneficiaries accounted for 98.9 per cent of the total United States imports of covered products excluded from preferential treatment by the competitive need criteria.

Notes

1/ The detailed information has been supplied on computer tapes.

2/ Information received from the United States on Trade effects of its scheme for the years 1976, 1977, 1978/1979 and 1986/1987 are contained in documents TD/B/C.5/30/Add.4, 14, TD/B/C.5/PREF.8 and 33, respectively.

3/ See footnote 2/.

4/ However, Poland which appears in the tables has been granted preferences only from 1 January 1990. In addition Hungary which also appears within these tables became beneficiary under the United States scheme from November 1989.

5/ Wallis and Futura islands.

6/ Benin, Chad, Comoros, Guinea-Bissau, Heard McDonald Islands, St. Helena and Western Sahara.

7/ Anguilla, Bhutan, British Virgin Island, Cape Verde, Falkland Islands (Malvinas), Greenland, Niue, Norfolk Island, Palau, Sao Tome and Principe, Seychelles, Somalia, Turks and Caicos Islands, and Tuvalu.

8/ In order of importance: Mexico, Brazil, Thailand, Malaysia, Philippines and Israel.

9/ 31 of these LDCs were ACP countries.

10/ See TD/B/C.5/PREF.33.

11/ Or $32.2 million in the case of countries which became "sufficiently competitive" in trade in the items. In this last case, there was no one beneficiary excluded considered as "sufficiently competitive" in 1989.
